

Dr. Yves Ville, M.D., has been the Chairman of the department of obstetrics and fetal medicine at Necker-Enfants-Malades Hospital at the Paris Descartes University since 2008 and also serves as its Professor. Dr. Ville was appointed Consultant and Senior Lecturer in Obstetrics and Gynecology and Director of the Fetal Medicine Unit at St Georges' Hospital and Medical School in London in 1996. In 1998, he was made Full Professor and Chairman of the Department of Obstetrics and Gynecology in Poissy Hospital and Paris-Ouest University.

Dr. Ville has been Member of the Clinical Advisory Board at Sequenom Inc. since December 2009. He serves as Associate-Dean for International Affairs at Paris-Descartes Medical School. He is the Director of a Master Degree in Prenatal Diagnosis and Fetal Medicine. He serves as Editor-in-Chief of Ultrasound in Obstetrics and Gynecology. He serves as General Secretary of the European Association of Perinatal Medicine, Board Member of the International Society of Ultrasound in Obstetrics and Gynecology. He is a member of the International Academy of Perinatal Medicine. He served as a Volunteer Obstetrician in Gabon, at Franceville Hospital and International Research Centre for 18 months in 1988. He was Assistant Professor of Obstetrics and Gynecology at Antoine Béclère Hospital and Paris University between 1993 and 1996.

Dr. Ville has published more than 320 papers in peer review literature and has co-authored or co-edited 10 textbooks. Research interests include Prenatal Diagnosis, Fetal Medicine and Surgery, and ultrasound in obstetrics. Dr. Ville serves on the council of the National Agency for Biomedicine as well as on the National Screening Committee in Prenatal Ultrasound. Dr. Ville served his internship and Residency in Surgery and in Obstetrics and Gynecology in Paris teaching Hospitals and at the Harris Birthright Research Centre, King's College Hospital in London. He received his medical degree from Paris University in 1986.